AN ADDRESS DELIVERED BY REV. WM. WARNER AUGUST, 1933

Brother Moderator, Officers, Messengers and Friends of the Cedar Grove Baptist Association:

It is my pleasure and duty at this hour to bring to you my tenth annual address or message. We feel ourselves bathing in the sunlight of God's high favors because he has so diligently led us through another year's service. We have come through many dangerous toils and snares. And yet not a single day have we wanted for guidance. For as the Psalmist hath said, "He leadeth me in paths of righteousness for His namesake." And as the wise man has also said, "In all thy ways acknowledge Him, and He will direct thy paths." So here is the success or failure of every Christian life. The one who acknowledges Him in all his ways is a success, and the one who does not is a failure. Oh, he who trusts in the Lord has such sweet promises. Isaiah says: "The Lord shall guide thee continually, and satisfy thy soul in drought, and make fat thy bones. And thou shalt be like a watered garden and a spring of water whose waters fail not." These promises have been greatly manifested to us during the past few years. So we all should unite in saying, "Blessed be the Lord that hath given rest unto his people of Israel according to all that he promised. There hath not failed one word of all His good promises which he hath promised by the hand of his servant, Moses."

Now, brethren, as I look upon you today and knowing as I do that you are the crowning piece of God's creation, I wonder do you realize what a great thing it is to be a MAN. Now, when I say a man, I don't mean "a white man," I don't mean "a black man," I don't mean "a yellow man." I mean a man. A God-fearing man. Yes, it is a great distinction to be a man. Alexander, flushed with victory and transported by pride of conquest, felt himself superior to human kind, and boasted that he was son of Jupiter. As made by him the boast was as arrogant as it was false, and yet he might have made a prouder boast than that. He might have pointed higher than Olympus, and said his origin was from thence. And this not because he was the King of Macedon and conqueror of the world, but because he was a man.

Oh, it is great to be a man. All the world pays him homage. The strongest and most ferocious of beasts tremble at his word and cower before his glance. All nature serves him. For him the sun shines and the moon gives her light; to cool his feverish brow and refresh his languid frame comes the sweet breath of Heaven; to drive from his pathway and dwelling place noxious exhalation the evil germs of the air, the tempest waves its dark and rapid wing and utters its mighty voice. Earth yields to him her gushing founts and all her flowers and fruits; for him the rain descends and the dew distills. For his profit and enjoyment—to please his eye, expand his heart and give him grandeur of conception, the mountain lifts its head to the skies and then before his majesty, as if in token of its own humility, veils its face in clouds; to bear the burden of his commerce, the ocean sends her billows to his door, and thence receiving them goes forth to do his will.

All of these is God's contributions to man. They are great, yet they are not the greatest. The greatest of all contributions to man was made when Jesus said, "I will give unto thee the keys of the Kingdom of heaven: whatsoever thou shall bind on earth shall be bound in heaven: and whatsoever thou shalt loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven." Yes, the church is God's greatest gift to man.

Now, let me call your attention to a few facts of the church of our denomination. The Missionary Baptists have a history of which they need not be ashamed—a history of noble names and noble deeds, extending back through many ages, in which the present generation well may glory. From the days of John the Baptist until now a great army of these witnesses for truth and righteousness, for its sake, have illumined and honored the march of Christian history. The ages since Christ has known no purer, nobler lives, no braver nor more faithful witnesses for the gospel of Christ, no more glorious martyrs for its sake than many of those who honor us by being "called our fathers in the faith." They were true to conscience and principle and loyal to Christ at a cost to which we are strangers. They went gladly to prison, and to death, in the defense of the gospel which they loved.

Baptists have contended and suffered, not for toleration, but for liberty in religion. The world is slow to acknowledge its indebtedness to them; nevertheless, it remains; with a great price they purchased it; but they did it not for glory nor for gain, but for God and humanity.

"The Baptists." Let us ask, Who are they? And what have they done? (1) The name "Baptist" was first given in ridicule by their enemies—as a badge of shame and dishonor.

The distinguishing principles of the people first called "Christians" and now called "Baptists," are: (1) The Scriptures as the only guide-book for religious life; (2) the individual and direct access of every soul to God—none between God and man; (3) complete separation between church and state in their respective fields; (4) simple policy of church government—each church is autonomous; (5) the baptism of believers only.

Baptists have been forward in education and literature, and in all ages have championed civil and religious liberty. Roger Williams contended for personal liberty and was banished from Boston on that account. Article VI of the American Constitution was inserted by the united efforts of Baptists in 1789, guaranteeing freedom of speech, freedom of religion, and a right to petition. John Clark, a Baptist, secured the charter of 1643, which made Rhode Island a free democratic state, and originated the public school system.

William Cary, an English Baptist, was the father of modern missions. Foreign missions in America began in 1810 by the going out of Adoniram Judson and Luther Rice, both Baptists.

The first president of Harvard College was a Baptist, Henry Dunster, and the largest benefactor of Harvard was Thomas Hollis, a Baptist. He founded the Hollis Chair of Theology.

Jefferson Davis gave the site of land where he was born for a Baptist church, and said at its dedication, "My father, who was a better man than I, was a Baptist." Bible societies were originated by a Baptist, Joseph Hughes. The Sunday School lessons was initiated by a Baptist, B. F. Jacobs, of Chicago.

Baptists have been forward in educational and literature. Brown University, founded in 1764; Vassar College, by Matthew Vassar, a Baptist. Great Baptist authors: Daniel Deboe, of "Robinson Crusoe"; John Milton, of "Paradise Lost," and John Bunyan, of "Pilgrim Progress."

"My Country, 'Tis of Thee," by Smith, a Baptist. Other Baptist hymns: "How Firm a Foundation," "My Hope is Built Upon Jesus," "Jesus, Thou Art a Sinner's Friend," "Awake, My Soul, in Joyful Lays," "O, Could I Speak the Matchless Worth," "Come, Humble Sinner," "Did Christ Over Sinners Weep?" "The Morning Light is Breaking," "Take the Name of Jesus With You," "Saviour, Thy Dying Love," "Shall We Gather at the River," "He Leadeth Me," "I Need Thee Every Hour," "Almost Persuaded," "Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight," "On Jordan's Stormy Banks I stand," "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," "Come Thou Fount of Every Blessing," "Come Holy Spirit, Heavenly Dove," "Holy Bible, Book Divine," "Ye Christian Heralds," "Wonderful Words of Life," "Whosoever Will," "The Half Was Never Told," "Bringing in the Sheaves."

W. H. Doane, a Baptist deacon, wrote the tunes to many popular hymns, among them the following: "Pass Me Not, Oh Gentle Saviour," "Near the Cross," "I Am Thine, Oh Lord," "Some Sweet Day," "'Tis the Blessed Hour of Prayer," "Saviour, More Than Life to Me," "Hide Me, Oh My Saviour, Hide," "Rescue the Perishing." Robert Lowery wrote the music for "Saviour, Thy Dying Love," and "We're Marching to Zion." Oliver Holden, a Baptist, wrote the music to "Coronation."

The first Negro church organized in the United States was a Baptist. It was organized in South Carolina, on the Savannah river, Aiken County, prior to 1775. (Yet in the last few years the First Baptist Church of Petersburg, Va., is claiming the priority). Dr. L. K. Williams, of Chicago, is the most outstanding Protestant minister and pastor in the United States. He is a Baptist. History only gives record of one woman bank president, Mrs. Maggie L. Walker, and she is a Baptist. One of the richest Negroes in Danville, Va., Dr. A. L. Winslow, is a Baptist. One of the greatest living missionaries, Rev. J. E. East, is a Baptist. Dr. R. R. Norton, head of the Tuskegee Institute, is a Baptist. One of the greatest Negro women of America, Miss Nannie H. Burroughs, is a Baptist. The largest Theological Seminary in the United States, the University of Chicago, is a Baptist school. The richest man in the United States, J. D. Rockefeller, is a Baptist. One of the greatest men America has produced, Dr. Booker T. Washington, was a Baptist.

Now, brethren, you can see from these facts that the Baptists are no little bunch of weak folks, so be of good comfort, "Strengthen the weak hands, confirm the feeble knees. Say to them of fearful heart, be strong, fear not." And awaken to the fact that we are not doing for missions, neither home or foreign, what I believe God is requiring of us. So let us see to it that we bestir ourselves as an Association, to do something worthwhile for missions and education, and let's do what we can to help lift the burden from Shaw University.

Now, brethren, I want you to know that I deeply appreciate the honors which you have bestowed upon me, and the responsibilities entrusted to my care and keeping, but I have no ambition nor desire to continue any longer than it seem best to you that I should. I stand ready and would be happy to take my place with those who follow.

Now, in memory of loved ones who have departed this life during the past year, we can but bow our heads in humble submission to Him that doeth all things well, and say as Longfellow has said:

"Lives of great men all remind us
We can make our lives sublime,
And departing leave behind us
Footprints on the sand of time."

Rev. J. A. Tucker, Rev. J. G. Williams, and we wouldn't fail to mention Bro. J. W. Word. They are gone but not forgotten.

Now, may God bless us while we tarry here in interest of His cause, and may He give to each of us wisdom and patience, the spirit and the power by which we may be able to strengthen His work and to extend His cause, until finally the Kingdom of this world shall have become the Kingdom of our Lord and His Christ, and all shall know and acknowledge Him who conquered in His death and triumphed in His resurrection as the champion of Calvary's bloody cross and the Son of the Most High God.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

1. I recommend that the Board of Trustees be invested with power by this body to purchase a small farm, within the bounds of this Association, the same to be used for a home for our aged and unfortunate ministers, deacons and laymen of this Association.

2. And that not more than two hundred ($200.00) dollars be spent in purchasing the same.

3. That the Treasurer keep himself in readiness so as to be able to make a cash payment whenever called upon by this body.

4. And in view of Shaw University's very urgent need at this present time, I beg that this Association may remember her in a commendable way financially.

WM. WARNER, Moderator.

Resolved 1. That in the morning of each session of this Association some time is to be spent in devotional exercises.

2. That this Association shall maintain a spirit of forbearance and Christian kindness toward all brethren in the Lord.

5. That sisters of our church be recommended to form themselves into societies to raise funds by voluntary contributions and monthly fees to aid all pastors and other ministers and to build houses of worship.

6. That no church shall be organized as in good order that pays less than twenty (20) dollars annually to the support of the Gospel.

7. That we hereby condemn the act of a Baptist Church receiving into her membership from a sister Baptist Church any person without a proper letter of dismissal.

8. That we disapprove of organizing a company or a part of a company into a church without letters of dismission from the church to which they belong.

PRESIDENT'S ANNUAL ADDRESS

Mr. President, Superintendent, Delegates, Ladies and Gentlemen—Greetings:

It is indeed a source of gratitude and honor to be permitted by the hand of Providence to be able once more to meet face to face in a spirit of thankfulness and praise. Twelve months ago we separated ourselves one from the other with a purpose of doing a greater service for God and the advancement of His Kingdom on earth. I want to congratulate you on your work of the past. You have wrought a work of which all need be proud. Your humble servant feels a deep sense of gratitude and appreciation for your most loyal support. For in these days of unrest, adversities, and perplexities one needs to be congratulated who faithfully follows as well as the one who successfully leads.

I want to emphasize the word "Leadership." The ordinary man in law, medicine or theology comes only unto the knowledge of the letter that killeth. But thoughtful men do not give stones for bread, nor have they ever done so. Christ came to set right the thinking of the world that had all gone wrong. The leaders of society had been blind to the spirit of truth and the knowledge of right. If the leaders in politics, society and religion are blind, the ditch only is before us.

Christ upbraided the disciples for following the Jewish leaders and showing lack of understanding. In all ages the progress of the race has been hindered by the blind prejudice of society. Permit me to say a word about the Sunday School: Our Sunday Schools have greatly improved since my youth. The Sunday School prepares the mind for the sermon and service and the result is more effective. Furthermore, many of our Sunday School "lessons and leaflets" which formed the curriculum of my youth were merely devotional in character. They lacked sound intelligence and genuine knowledge. Today they are prepared by men and women who are competent. They are so much better that there is no comparison.

To Mothers and Fathers: Go with your children to Sunday School and church services. If they are forced to go, and if you don't go yourselves, they regard the service as one of the many penalties of childhood from which, as soon as they are independent, they will escape.

I must conclude, and my last words to you are: Let us, this old Convention, live up in Christianity and in Christian unity. One of the noblest tendencies of religious aspirations is toward Christian unity. This is no longer a dream but a germinal reality. The temperature of interdenominational life has been steadily rising for more than three decades. Comity and fellowship are not names merely, but they are facts. There is a life force in the church whose evolution points towards the fulfillment of the Redeemer's Prayer, "That they may be one as we are one." The declaration of the Master concerning the Fatherhood of God—and the divine brotherhood of man—God is your Father, all ye are brethren, the note to which every real pulse of the church of Jesus vibrates. Let us pull back the glass lense prejudices and take this old world for God and His Christ.

U. H. LONG, President.

RECOMMENDATION:

Whereas, the ministers have been a great help in making this Convention what it is; therefore I recommend that each minister appearing on the program to preach be given at least his expense.

U. H. LONG.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

Madam President, Officers, Pastors and Delegates:

It occasions me consummate pleasure to address you and to say thank God we are yet alive to see each other's face. It is truly grand to witness such a magnificent gathering of acknowledged leaders and accredited representatives of this grand organization.

We thank God for the ministers who have sidetracked their church proclivities and met us to devise methods and formulate plans and discover remedies, as well as lengthen the cords and strengthen the stakes already established to reach reform, uplift, inspire and develop the wayward of our race, to edify our churches, Sunday Schools, women's organizations and young people's societies, and to concentrate our forces and extend the Kingdom of God in this and foreign lands.

Fond are the dreams of the colored race of today. Four hundred and fifty million of the darker people of the world are united. Universal brotherhood supplants the gusty passions of wicked men. Out from the cockpit of hate and revenge arises the Prince of Peace while the snowy dove bears the olive branch of hope. When his dreams are over he will bestir himself in advancing the fallen race of men. Then may I bring you this passage of Scripture, "For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten son."

My subject is "LOVE."

There is no equivocation or dodging the question, God requires his children, as he does himself, to love their enemies, and to show it by praying for those who despitefully use them, returning good for evil, blessing for cursing. Christ did it even amid the agonies of the cross when he prayed for his enemies, and said, "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do." Stephen did it when in behalf of his enemies who were killing him he also prayed that God would not lay this sin to their charges. Millions of martyrs since, rotting in filthy dungeons or thrown to wild beasts or burning at the stake, have loved and prayed for their enemies.

I grant that it is not natural, but supernatural, and possible only to those who have been born of God and a partaker of the divine nature, who is willing to love under all circumstances. It was love that rebuked Peter, his friend, and tolerated Judas, his enemy. The victims of within his own fold, that the church might never be discouraged by imperfection. The traitor's kiss, the rude arrest, the mockery of trial, the shout of crucifixion, the crown of thorns, the scourge of Pilate are but preliminaries to the awful drama in which love played the character of decide for sin.

It was not Judas or Annias, nor Herod, nor Pilate that crucified our Lord and Saviour—it was love that did it. Joseph said to his brethren that sold him into Egypt, "It was not you that sent me thither, but God to save much people." So he forgave and kissed his brethren, and on the day of Pentecost the penitent crucifiers of the Son of God were pardoned. It was love that did it. The law was being satisfied, sin was being atoned, hell's penalty was being cancelled, justice and mercy were shaking hands, while justice and righteousness were kissing each other. But the love of Christ does not stop here. He loves his own from everlasting to everlasting. Love laid the plan of redemption in the council of eternity executed on the cross, and now applies it to the salvation of the world. To this end love wrote the Bible and sent the spirit to woo the human's heart. Love made but a single requirement of sinners—the least that could be made; that is, "Love the Lord with all thy heart, with all thy might and your neighbor as yourself. Do this and ye shall live."

Have you been loving in the way that will build up your brother's or sister's name, or have you been the cause of their names being dragged in the mire of scandal? Have you loved the Lord to the extent that you are willing to shun the every appearance of sin, and willing to cut aloof from everything that will hinder you from running the race? Do you love your neighbors good enough to forgive them of trespasses, even as you want your Heavenly Father to forgive you? If so, you are on the right road to heaven. One of the richest manifestations of divine love in the Bible is seen in the angelic escort of Lazarus, God's pauper friend, to Paradise and to the companionship of Abraham. Oh, what an Allwise God we are serving! While man looks on the outward appearance, God looks in the heart. He only knows whether it is the love of him and the uplift of fallen humanity that brought you to this place or for a form and fashion. It was love that pardoned the thief on the cross and give him the honor of going right from the horrors of crucifixion to paradise with his Lord. So of Stephen who looked up from the martyrdom of stoning to Jesus ready to receive his spirit. What must be the glory of Paul and Spurgeon? Last, but not least, our old sainted mothers and fathers, who loved and worshipped God under the whip and lash, notwithstanding their children were sold from them as you would sell stock. They loved him though husband and wives were separated to never meet any more. They loved him though they were hunted as beast in the forest and driven as partridges on the mountains. They would come together way in the still hours of the night, unite their broken language in humble submission, believing that deliverance would come. And today we are enjoying the answer to their prayers.

What must be the joy of that great bloodwashed throng who have gone to heaven through great tribulation! What millions of saints in paradise peacefully restfully, waiting for the redemption of the body through the love of our Lord Jesus Christ! Are you loving as you should? Are you loving your Saviour enough as you pass out upon the highways and byways, that by your precepts and example will compel men and women to come to Christ? Do you love him good enough that you have been in some castoff people's home and carried Jesus with you; that they would cry out, "Pray for me, or Lord, I am coming back to the fold?" Do you love him good enough that you are willing to help those in heathen darkness to come to the marvelous light of Jesus?

If the pure love of Jesus be the chief objective of your life, some sweet day we shall walk the golden streets, breathe the celestial air, bask in the light of the great white throne. The marriage supper of the lamb shall be the everlasting feast of love, hallelujah shall be the endless music of praise, service will be the eternal flight upward in the development of the redeemed; there shall be no stormy seas or no night; no tears shall ever fall, no pang of grief, and no touch of pain; not a remembrance of the sad and sinful past. This is the inheritance of love. Eye hath not seen, ear hath not heard, nor heart conceived the good things that are in store for those who love and long to see the appearance of his son.

God is love, oh boundless mercy,
May we all its fullness prove,
Telling those who sit in darkness
God is light and God is love.
