One of the favorite stories passed down in our family is about Sarah (Sallie) Johnston Reed. In 1839, she began to have a dream about a large white sheet which was extending from the heavens and about three little girls sliding down that sheet into her arms. This dream continued for several consecutive nights. The dream stopped after her son John C. Reed returned to Tennessee from Mississippi with his three small daughters. His wife, Sarah R. Wallace had died and he needed his mother's assistance to raise his children. The youngest of the little girls, Martha Emeline Reed, was the only child to live past age 22. She adored her Grandmother Sallie Reed. In later years, she was able to return the favor and care for her elderly grandmother.

Eugenia Margaret (Johnston) Hadley wrote this about "Grandma Reed" from stories that she was told by her Grandmother (Martha Emeline Reed Johnston) who was raised by "Grandma Reed".

She asks that her children and their guardians be subpoenaed to answer her bill; that a writ of dower be issued; and "that Commissioners be appointed to allot & set a part the one Sixth part of said negroes to your oratrix and that she may hold them absolutely in severalty."

The following letters were written by James H. Wallace of Kosciusko, Attala County, Mississippi to his first cousin, Martha Emeline Reed Johnston of Robertson County, Tennessee. It was transcribed from the original by my Grandmother, Eugenia Margaret Johnston Hadley of Madison, Tennessee. She states that the blanks in the letter are due to the ink fading from folds in the original. I found this transcription in the files of the Attala County, Mississippi library. My grandmother had sent copies to that library to help anyone who was searching for information on this family. I never found her original transcriptions in her files. A cousin, Jean Brooks, has the originals.

Kosciusko, Miss. Nov, 20, 1871

Dear Cousin Mattie

After having written several times to you since the war, and receiving no reply, I had given you up as dead, and you can imagine my great and agreeable surprise to receive a letter from you yesterday. It was almost like a message from the grave. I hasten to write to you and do sincerely hop you will get this letter.

This leaves me and my family in tolerable health. I have been married ten years last August and have two children living - a boy and a girl. We lost our oldest child in 1868. He was six years old when he died. Our youngest is two years old.

There are but three of my mother's family living - myself and sisters Sarah and Jane. Our dear mother died in August _____ on the face _____. Sister Martha married _____ to Jackson, where Mr. Prevost died with yellow fever in 1853, leaving one child named Charley, who I took and raised, and who is now married. Martha afterwards married a merchant of Jackson, named Galeppi, and she died in December 1860 while on a visit to us. Brothers John, William and Henderson all lost their lives in the War. John was killed in the Battle of Fishing Creek, Kentucky, in January 1863. William died in February 1863 and Henderson in May 1863 - both of pneumonia. Indead death has been unsparing and relentless towards us in the last ten years, but He who rules all things with remarkable wisdom and mercy, has seen fit to inflict us, and we must bow in humble _____ before His Holy will. And you, too, my cousin, have suffered the like afflictins in loss of your family excepting your three children. May God help you to bear those seven afflictions with Christian fortitude. Grandma Reed lived to a ripe age, had supposed her dead long ago. Mother had me write a letter to you directly after the war to hear from you all, but never have heard a word, though I had not only written to you but to Uncle James Wallace also.

Sarah and Jane are both living 18 miles from me. Sarah lost her first husband, whose name was Fisher, in 1867, and afterwards married a _____. She has five children. Jane married W. T. Parks and has five children. They are all doing well.

I am getting along tolerably well. I have been holding the office of Clerk of Circuit Court of my county for several years, but the war bankrupt law & c has almost broke me up. I sold my property in Kosciusko two years ago and bought a place in the country 8 miles from Kosciusko on which I am now living. I have been engaged in teaching school entirely this year, and am going to teach next year also, and have a crop too.

If you get this letter you must be sure and write to me often, and I will do the same, and if you know anything about Uncle James Wallace write to me of him.

Our grandfather Wallace died in February 1864 in Copiah County in this state. He staid with us a year before he died. He left a large body of real estate in Copiah County, but I do not know in what condition it is in. There is an administrator on his estate whose name is Andy Ray, but he has never wrote to me anything satisfactory about it. As you are one of the heirs, I will write to you when I can get any information in regard to the value and condition the property is in.

Burt I must close, although I have many other things to write to you about and will reserve them for another time. I am afraid you will not get it. If you get it let me know. _____ and wife.

Your affectionate cousin,
J. H. Wallace

A second letter dated December 9, (no year given but Grandmama's notes state it appears to be 1871)

Kosciusko, Miss. Dec. 29

Dear Cousin Mattie -

I received your letter of Dec. 7, a few days ago and seat myself to answer it. This leaves me and family well. The Christmas holidays are over and everybody, espacially the young people, have nejoyed themselves to their heart's content, and everything is beginning to assume its wonted business aspects.

I am perfectly surprised Cousin mattie, to learn from your letter that you have not seen Uncle James since you were a child, and that you have written to him and get no answer. Is it possible that he has become so selfish and indifferent as not to wish a knowledge of the weal and woe of his own sister's child? As for myself, living so far away from him, I could not expect him to take any interest in me or my family, but his conduct toward you is totally inexcusable, living as you do the same state tht he does. Such relatives as that sort I do not care anything about, and it makes no difference to me whether I ever hear anything from him or not. This may seem very harsh to you Cousin Mattie, but it is nevertheless my honest sentiments.

In regard to our grandfather Wallace estate, I would say that the administrator has never written to me but one letter in regard to the matter, on account as I suppose, of the estate not yet being wound up. I however, have learned from parties whom I have requested to look inot the matter that there will be about five thousand dollars to distribute among the heirs after the payment of claims against the estate. I intend to send to the clerk of the Chancery Court of Copiah County to get an accurate statement of the condition of the estate, and as soon as I do so I will send the same to you. In the meantime you can wirt to the administrator, whose name is Andy Ray, at Bahala Depot, Copiah county, Mississippi. I will do all I can to secure our interest in the estate, and I think you will agree with me that as Uncle James and Tate got all of Grandma's effects, it is nothing but right, just and proper that you and I and my sisters Sarah and Jane should have all of Grandpa's effects.

You wish to know who I married. My wife's name was Lavenia Diana Simpson, a very ugly name but belonging to a very good looking woman. She and I are about the same age, but she is the stoutest, never having had any sickness. She was an orphan girl when we married. She is about four feet five inches high, weighs 130 pounds, and wears a number three shoe. Don't laugh at this description of her, for it is the best I can give. I call her Puss. We have had three children - the oldest was named William Magnus, the next is named George Henderson, and our little girl, the youngest is named Emma Jeffolona. She is a little over three years old, and I think would take the prize for beauty at any baby show in the world. But they say "All praise is half Scandal" so I will say no more at this point.

I will commence teaching my school on next Monday, and I long to be at it, for I have been doing little or nothing for the last two months. I have a very good school, and get fifty dollars a month, and paid at the end of each month.

We will have a railroad to Kosciusko in five or six months, as there are now 500 hands at work on it. The work is nearly all graded to Kosciusko. The town is growing very fast, and is destined to become the largest inland town in the state. Town property is very high and still rising. When the railroad arrives there, I expect to return there myself and go into some business.

I believe I have written enough for this time and so will close. Write every time you find it convenient, and I will do the same.

Your cousin,
J. H. Wallace

The third letter is dated January 22 and Grandmama's notes state it is probably January 22, 1875 as it mentions the death of cousin Murat Reed who died in 1874.

Kosciusko, Miss. Jan. 22

Dear Cousin Mattie -

I am due you a letter, and ought to have written you long ago, but I have been so occupied with business that I have neglected to do so. The last letter I got from you I received the picture of your youngest daughter Eugenia, and it now occupies a conspicuous place in our family album. I feel proud of my young cousins, and I congratulate you upon being the possessor of two such nice looking intelligent children. We will send our pictures some time this spring.

This leaves us all well and getting along as well as the hard times will permit. The hardest times ever experienced by our people are upon us. Money is so scarce that it is next to impossible to get any, all caused by the low cost of cotton.

I am engaged at present teaching school, and have a school house full of pupils, but I will teach only until March, as I intend to try farming this year. I intend to make plenty of corn, potatoes and molasses, and all the cotton I can. I may make a failure, but however I will risk that.

We have had so far the mildest winter ever known. I am now sitting writing this letter without my coat on and still I am too warm. Plum trees are in full bloom, and if this sort of weather continues a week longer, we will see the peach and early apple trees in bloom. I see from my newspapers that they are having strawberries and cream, lettuce, green peas and most all garden vegetables in New Orleans. It has indeed been a remarkably mild winter.

I was sorry to learn of Cousin Murat Reed's death. Although I did not know much about him personally, yet I have heard him highly praised by his own cousins here county, James and William Cole, who are second cousins to you and me. I was glad, also to learn that he so generously remembered you in his will.

Sisters Jane and Sarah and families are all well, as I heard from them yesterday. I have not seen one of them for over twelve months and I am beginning to want to see them very much.

I believe I have written all I know of interest, and I will close. You must write to me often, for I always receive your letters with pleasure, for you seem as near and dear to me almost as my own sisters. My wife sends her love to you. Give my love to my little cousins, Samuella, Eugenia and Joseph, and accept the same for yourself.

Meditations On A Time Piece
By J.C. Reed

See how the moments pass,
How swift they haste a way,
In this instructive glass,
Behold thy life decay,
Then waste not thy prime,
On life's pernicious road,
_____ Thy precious time,
Acquaint thyself with God,
So when thy pulse shall cease,
Its throbbing transient play,
Thy soul to realms of peace,
Shall wing its joyful way.

John C. Reed and Sarah R. Wallace had the following children:

- i. SUSANNAH ELIZABETH⁵ REED was born on 01 Nov 1834 in Tennessee. She died on 27 Jul 1856 in Robertson County, Tennessee.

Margaret Johnston Hadley remembers watching her grandmother fix her hair and telling her that when she grew up she wanted to look just like her. Martha Emeline (Reed) Johnston replied, "Law, child, you'll never be as pretty as I was." Martha Emeline (Reed)

Johnston was affectionately called, Granny. In later years, we called our grandmother (Eugenia Margaret Johnston Hadley) "Granny" because we knew that the name was very special to her.

Eugenia Margaret (Johnston) Hadley wrote the following about her grandmother:

We were all born on the old home place and were all brought up with Grannie and Aunt Ella. I do not remember a time when either of them showed impatience with any of us. Aunt Ella never married and I expect I was closer to her than any of the others. Grannie was partial to Lucile. They had many secrets together and Lucile would tell her about her boy friends.

My brother James and I roamed the farm when we were children and we would gather leaves from the trees to bring to Grannie. She always knew the names of the trees. She would at times tell me of her sisters and Grandmother, but I don't remember her ever talking about her father or grandfather. She said when they were growing up that Grandma fed them mush for supper and then she and her sisters argued about who would wash the mush pot.

Grannie was tall and slender, dark haired and dark eyed as was Aunt Ella and Auntie. Father had black curly hair and grey eyes and he and Aunt Ella looked more alike than they resembled Auntie who looked like Grannie. I don't know if the brown eyes are a Johnston feature or not, but I rather think they were from the Reeds - all of the other Johnston's had blue or light colored eyes.

Doris James who is a great granddaughter of William Reed Johnston and a granddaughter of Felix B. Johnston generously shared the following memories of her family members (children of William Reed Johnston). With her permission, I am recording these stories here to preserve them for any future generations who may be interested.

"I met all Grandpa's siblings except James Cannon Johnston (Uncle Jim) who died before I was born. Claude and Thad came to visit sometimes and I barely remember them. Ollie (Smith) lived in the house on Broad Street recently restored. Medie was like a grandmother to me. She stayed at our house on several occasions, including the births of my sister and brother when she helped mother. Medie was a funny lady. She loved to eat biscuits with onion for snacks, and she was deathly afraid of storms. I remember once when a thundercloud came up, she paced the front porch eating her biscuit and onion and worrying about getting blown away. We laughed about that for years."

"Aunt Ollie's daughter, Maxine, treated me like a special person every time we visited. She had the tiniest feet I've ever seen on anyone, and she would let me play in her high-heeled shoes when I was a child. I was probably the only little girl in town with high heels that fit. By the time I was 10 years old, my feet had outgrown her shoes. She wore size 12 ½s and 1s and bought her shoes from Cinderella House."

"Maxine had a portion of her right index finger missing. Somehow she had fallen down the stairs with a glass in her hand. When the glass broke it cut off a little more than the tip of her finger. She lost the fingernail, but an impression of the nail remained. That made an impression on me as a child."

Jimmy Brooks found the following information in letters written by Daniel Allen Johnston. These letters are owned by Jeanette Dunn (2002):

April 5, 1859: Written from New Orleans. Letter is addressed to My Dear Brother Thompson (David Thompson Johnston of Robertson County, Tennessee). He mentions receiving a letter from Thompson and writing one to John Henry (Johnston - his youngest brother). He mentions John Henry visiting him in Nashville, shortly before he left. He describes the strong bond that he and David Thompson Johnston have as "a stronger tie that binds us as brothers than in most cases. We spent our infancy and our boyish days together. We were almost as Siamese Twins. Where ever one would go the other must go. It has always seemed as if you were nearer me than any other brother". He alludes to misfortune that he has and tells the family not to worry about him. He says he is well and works hard and likes the climate. He has gained 12 pounds since leaving Nashville. He plans to leave New Orleans for New York in a month to spend the summer, but will return to New Orleans in the fall. Bell (his wife) is with him in New Orleans and is getting on tolerably well. "I will do the best I can with her". He signs his letter, your devoted brother, Daniel.

April 20, 1861: Written from Memphis, Tennessee. Letter is addressed to Dear Brother Thompson (David Thompson Johnston of Robertson County, Tennessee). Daniel Johnston describes the excitement in the city of Memphis and the organization of the city to defend itself against the "Army of Lincoln". He describes secession flags waving over every building. Daniel Johnston had joined the Home Guard as had a Dr. Hobson who was also apparently from Robertson County, Tennessee. He states that he was for the Union as long as the Union existed, but now must side with the South against the North. He hopes "for the best, but fears greatly fears this matter will terminate in dreadful bloody work. God doeth all things well. Who can tell but this will all be for the best." He mentions that Charley is well and Bell (his wife) is in good health. He asks that if John Henry (Johnston - his youngest brother) still has his old Mexican excapet (sp) that he send it to him at his residence which is No. 6 Causey Street, near Beal in Memphis. He gives his love to the rest of the family and their "dear father" and signs the letter, Your devoted Brother, Dan A. Johnston.."

May 6, 1861: Written from Memphis, Tennessee and addressed to Dear Brother (David Thompson Johnston). He writes that the excitement of pending war, Memphis has not abated but has increased in war preparation. "Almost everybody has enlisted for active service. It seems to be the opinion here that we will have a long and bloody war before the business is settled. There is a large encampment of Mississippian, Tennessee and Arkansas troupes, 5 miles above Memphis where they are building forts and making every preparation to drive back the troupes of the North. It is thought an attack will be made on Cairo sometime this week." He again requests that his Mexican sword be sent to him by train from Clarksville. Your Affectionate Brother, Dan A. Johnston.

May 30, 1861: Written from Memphis, Tennessee and addressed to Dear Brother (David Thompson Johnston). Everything is quiet in Memphis and the excitement has gone down, but he does describe the city still making preparations for war. They are all awaiting news from Virginia where "we may soon expect to hear of bloody work there already been some pretty sharp work in that quarter." He describes getting his gun and putting it in good order. Prices in Memphis have increased and he spent 25 cents a pound for bacon, 30 cents a dozen for eggs and 40 cents a pound for butter. Charley is making cartridges and calls them Lincoln bills. He says that Charley can make 400 cartridges a day and sells them for 25 cents each. "Charley is one of the best boys you ever saw his has grown very much and improved more than any boy in nation". Charley inquires about his grandpapa and how his eye is. Daniel A. Johnston asks about Milton (Samuel Milton Johnston) who has enlisted in the Confederate Army. He says that Bell is making tents. He signs the letter, I remain your affectionate brother. Dan A. Johnston.

Just in from Jeanette's a short time ago, and have been reading the old letters of Daniel Allen Johnston to David Thompson Johnston, his brother. He has mentioned getting a letter from "Mattie." He obviously is referring to Grannie, for he asked David Thompson, whom he calls "Thompson," to give her a message. The interesting information so far is that he mentions an Alexander Johnston and family, (consisting of his mother, sister, younger brother, and four children), who lived about three miles from Memphis, he says. This was written in 1877. He says that Alexander needs money, and that one of his children had died. Says too that Alex. had sent to his uncle Jimmy Johnston who lived near Nashville for money. He also mentioned "Cousin Jane, Davy's widow." Daniel then says "my boy Charlie was in here a few days since. He is living on a farm near Memphis." What do you make of all this? I have no earthly idea who these people are, except that it does sound like Charlie was Dan and Belle's son. Do you think you can make a guess as to who these other Johnston's are? Oh yes, in a earlier letter he mentions that Belle wanted to take "the children" to Nashville for a few weeks to see her folks. That makes it sound as if he had more than one child. Again, what are your thots on the matter? Jim

On the torn bottom half of a letter that therefore has no date, is written that Emily Ayres, whom war has now separated from her husband for good and all, is living with Mae Long and Mary." He adds that "a man who married the old man's daughter told me that the Devil himself could not live with Emily."

I am not sure that the Emily Ayres he mentions is the one who married his brother, James McGready Johnston. He says in a letter that she is separated from her husband, who is 83. I laid that letter down, and now can't tell which one it is, so don't have the date, sometime in the very early 1860's I think it was. He adds that a son in law of I think her husband told him that not even the devil could live with Emily. He also told Dan that she had tried to get her husband to leave everything to her, and that when he told her that she got everything only for her lifetime, and that after that it went to his daughters, she gave him no mercy and never let up on him, trying to get him to change his will. Doesn't sound like the James M. Johnston family.

Cissy, Have read another six letters, but no more genealogical information, except that in this last letter, Dan, who is again living in Nashville (1886), says that "Belle and the boys are doing well".

Found a letter dated 1878, in which he mentions "Charley's wife." Also says that Belle is making good money as a seamstress, which earlier letters also mentioned.

He also says that that family of Johnstons, and I don't know if he only means the Alex. Johnston family or the larger group, are very destitute, which he says is particularly hard on Julia as they were "rich once."

He says some very bad things about Mary Long and her mother, Emily? Maybe the Emily Ayres that he mentioned earlier? I have asked the Ayres in Cedar Hill about Emily Ayres, but they knew nothing about her or her descendants.

In 1886, Dan and Bell were back in Nashville, and he was working in the jewelry shop of a Geo. R. Calhoun, which was at 41 N. Cherry St, two blocks from Union. You will recall Union St. I am sure, one of the main streets downtown.

Just read a letter where Dan is commenting on the news that the widow of their Uncle Daniel Calvin had died. He is lamenting and grieving over the news that the Cummings family is about to "seize" the property "that has been in our family almost 100 years." This was in 1876 I believe. He says that the property is not worth a lot, but that it is grievous to lose something that has been in the family so long. He also mentions that the house that their father and grandfather lived in will be lost to the Cummings! I was never aware that they lived on that side of the creek, and on Calvin's place, tho James did move in with Calvin before his death. I know they bought the property on the west side of the creek after 1800. Apparently, if Dan is correct and I read his letter correctly, the first house was on Calvin's place. You can read it and see what you think, once you get your copies of these letters. Also, he says in another letter, dated 1861, that Charley has put on weight "since he came down here!" That was Feb. of 1861, and the 1860 census showed Charles living with them in Memphis and listed as ten or under.

A letter dated 1870, in which he mentions Joe, who married our niece. Could be a niece on Belle's side of the family. Was there a niece on his side who married someone named Joe?

Another letter in which he mentions both a married niece and "our unmarried niece."

Ah! Now we may have something, Cissy! In a letter dated Jan. 1871, he speaks of "Our son-in-law, Joe Atchison, he that married our niece." I don't recall any Atchisons on the Johnston side, and I never heard of a niece's husband being called a son in law. Can you make anything of that? Another two letters, date in 1871, in which he speaks of an Egbert (Bell?), and Drury Bell. Did Joel Bell have a son named Egbert? Dan says that a son of Joel Bell swindled him out of ten dollars, and asks that someone go to Joel and get his money back. I don't expect the Bell's would care that that be known.

Last letter I have read, he says to 'give our love to Cousin Lucy Farmer." Wonder who she was?

Just read that Charley had admitted fathering a child by a girl he had "courted for a year or so." Worse still, he married a different girl, and shortly afterwards the first one gave birth. The baby died. The jury ruled it was the doctor's fault, but there was talk of neglect or even outright murder of the baby. Dan states that Charley admitted fathering the child, but denies involvement in anything beyond that. States that Charley's reputation is ruined. Wonder if that is why some unknown person wrote "they had no children." under the names of Dan and Belle? It sounds like Charley could have been adopted, but it also sounds like someone may have thought it best that he be forgotten.

The niece who was married to Joe Atchison was named Mary. Mary and Joe had two children at this time, the youngest a baby. Dan also mentions "Cousin Laura Smith, a daughter of Susan Johnston."

In a letter dated 1877, Dan says that "Belle has given up the trip to Nashville, since the children have been sick." I wonder whose children they were? I think Dan and Arrabella were too old for the children to have been theirs. In another letter that Jeanette once showed me, but which I do not see here, Dan mentions "our two orphans." Don't recall the date on that letter, only the phrase.

He married Martha Emeline Reed, daughter of John C. Reed and Sarah R. Wallace, on 06 Sep 1860 in Robertson County, Tennessee. She was born on 21 Feb 1838 in Jackson, Mississippi. She died on 03 Mar 1930 in Robertson County, Tennessee.

Notes for John Henry Johnston:

John Henry Johnston fell from a hay wagon when he was about 12 years old and was run over by the wagon, breaking his hip and leaving him slightly crippled. Because of this injury, he was not able to join the Confederate Army during the Civil War.

Notes for Martha Emeline Reed:

Eugenia Margaret (Johnston) Hadley always spoke fondly of her grandmother, Martha Emeline (Reed) Johnston. She recalled her grandmother combing her long hair and then fixing it on top of her head. Margaret Johnston Hadley remembers watching her grandmother fix her hair and telling her that when she grew up she wanted to look just like her. Martha Emeline (Reed) Johnston replied, "Law, child, you'll never be as pretty as I was." Martha Emeline (Reed) Johnston was affectionately called, Granny. In later years, we called our grandmother (Eugenia Margaret Johnston Hadley) "Granny" because we knew that the name was very special to her.

Eugenia Margaret (Johnston) Hadley wrote the following about her grandmother:

We were all born on the old home place and were all brought up with Grannie and Aunt Ella. I do not remember a time when either of them showed impatience with any of us. Aunt Ella never married and I expect I was closer to her than any of the others. Grannie was partial to Lucile. They had many secrets together and Lucile would tell her about her boy friends.

My brother James and I roamed the farm when we were children and we would gather leaves from the trees to bring to Grannie. She always knew the names of the trees. She would at times tell me of her sisters and Grandmother, but I don't remember her ever talking about her father or grandfather. She said when they were growing up that Grandma fed them mush for supper and then she and her sisters argued about who would wash the mush pot.

Grannie was tall and slender, dark haired and dark eyed as was Aunt Ella and Auntie. Father had black curly hair and grey eyes and he and Aunt Ella looked more alike than they resembled Auntie who looked like Grannie. I don't know if the brown eyes are a Johnston feature or not, but I rather think they were from the Reeds - all of the other Johnston's had blue or light colored eyes.

Notes for Samuella Allen Johnston:

Eugenia Margaret (Johnston) Hadley wrote this in her notes about her "Aunt Ella":

Aunt Ella never married and lived with us until Father died and she went to Adams to live with Auntie. Aunt Ella was like a mother to us all. She was tall and slender, in fact "skinny". She was well educated and very conscious of correct behavior. There were things that according to her principles ladies would not do, chew gum, trim fingernails and such in the presence of others. This she called "vulgar". She was a good seamstress. I believe that I was her favorite among the 13 nieces and nephews.

Aunt Ella was quite family conscious and thought of the Johnstons as being of the old aristocracy. She knew the history of the family and I waited too late to ask her about them as I would have liked to have done.

Ella Allen Johnston of Adams, Robertson County, Tennessee died 22 December 1949 of arteriosclerosis. She was born 5 June 1861, the daughter of John Henry

According to this census record, he and his wife, Irene have been married for 14 years and have 7 children. All 7 children are living in 1910. The census taker made a serious error. The last two "children" listed are given ages of 18 and 16. Apparently the census taker filled in some of the family information after the fact. These "children" are Joseph's mother Mattie Johnston and his single sister, Ella Johnston. Based on family records and personal knowledge of Eugenia Margaret Johnston (Margaret listed below), we know that Joseph Johnston and Irene Hill Johnston had only 5 children.

I can remember my grandmother, Eugenia Margaret Johnston talking about her father, Joseph Wilks Johnston. Once she told me about him spending time sleeping out in the fields because of the Night Riders. She remembered that when she was a child the Night Riders would ride through the country side and attack any men who refused to join the Tobacco Growers Association. The battles between the Association and the independent farmers were known as "The Tobacco Wars". Joseph Wilks Johnston and many of his relatives refused to join the Association. He would go into the fields to sleep. If he was not "at home" when the Night Riders came calling, his family would be left in peace. He also slept in the fields so that he could protect his crop from being burned. Grandmama concluded by telling me that her father had weak lungs and she always felt that he died at a relatively young age because of spending so much time sleeping outside. She despised the Night Riders.

Jim Brooks remembers being told this story about the Night Riders:

In a nutshell, the story as I heard it second hand was that during the Tobacco War, someone alerted the Johnstons, Porters, Randolphs, Hills, and ?, all of whom lived along Sturgeon Creek and all of whom were hostile to the Nightriders, (none of them would join the Tobacco Growers Protective Association) that a band of Nightriders were headed towards Johnston's Ford, also known as Brown's Ford, which was where the Keysburg Road crossed Red River near Sturgeon Creek. This was at night. The men and women, armed, all left their homes and positioned themselves behind trees on their side of Red River, determined that none of the Nightriders would cross the river. They feared the Nightriders planned to burn their barns and/or do them other harm.

They saw 35 to 40 Nightriders approaching, carrying torches. They planned to let the Nightriders reach the middle of the river, and then to empty as many saddles as they could. Fortunately for the Nightriders, they milled around, holding a conference near the edge of the river. Finally they turned and went back the way they had come. Hershel Oliver said that if they had not turned back, the biggest battle of the Tobacco War would have been fought right there. A neighbor of ours when I was a child, told Daddy that during that time, he had been sitting up with a sick neighbor most of the night. Going home in the early morning, he rounded a bend in the road and came upon a band of 15 or 20 Nightriders. They asked him if he belonged to the Tobacco Growers Association, and when he said yes, they let him go. Telling him that he had met no one on the road that night. Looking over their heads, he could see a glow against the early morning sky. It was someone's tobacco barn burning. Mr. Rust said that he knew everyone of the men, even tho they were masked. (He recognized their horses.)

Joe W. Johnston of Adams, Robertson County, Tennessee, died 8 June 1932 of a mitral insufficiency. He was born in 1866 in Robertson County, Tennessee to John Henry Johnston and Martha Reed Johnston. Henry Smith of Adams, Tennessee was the informant for the death certificate.

Notes for Mary Irene Hill:

Mary Irene Hill was born at the Shanklin Place on Elk Fork Creek, Robertson County, Tennessee, near Sadler's Station. She was educated at Oakland School near Springfield, Tennessee where she stayed with her grandparents, William Powell Draughon and Mary Ann T. Murphy Draughon.

Mary Irene Hill was called Irene and she is listed as Irene Johnson living with her husband Joseph W. Johnson and their children on the 1920 Robertson County,

Tennessee Census. The surname is actually Johnston, but was misspelled by the census taker.

When Mary Irene Hill died, her daughter, Lucile Johnston Davis was unable to attend the funeral. A snow storm prevented her from traveling from Waynesboro, Virginia to Tennessee.

A copy of her death certificate gives the following information: Mary Irene Hill was born 30 June 1874 (note one year difference in date) and died 20 November 1937, at 9:30 PM. She was 63 years, 4 months and 21 days old. She was the widow of J. W. Johnston and her occupation was housekeeper. Her father, J. M. Hill was born in Tennessee as was her mother, Virginia M. Draughon. Mrs. Roy Warren (her daughter Joella) was the informant for the information on the death certificate. She was buried at Adams, Tennessee on 22 November 1937 and the funeral director was J. G. Barber and Son of Springfield, Tennessee. The cause of her death was a peptoric ulcer that had ruptured through the wall of her stomach. Dr. L. Frank Sory performed an operation and Mary Irene Hill died on the operating table. She had been under the care of Dr. Sory for two days prior to her death at the Robertson County Hospital at Springfield, Tennessee. Her place of residence was Cedar Hill, Tennessee.

- v. ROBERT JACKSON JOHNSTON was born on 21 Mar 1869 in Robertson County, Tennessee. He died on 19 Feb 1870 in Robertson County, Tennessee.

A praying mantis (also called a devil's horse) had landed on his neck and he had an insect bite which became infected. He died about three days after receiving the insect bite.
